Skilled Trade Society Challenges Big UAW

DETROIT (AP) — A David and Goliath battle is being waged in the auto industry's skilled trades workers believes it can slay Goliath in 1967.

Joseph W. Dunnebeck, president of the tiny International Society of Skilled Trades, said today his group will battle the giant United Auto Workers Union next year to gain representation rights for more than 100,000 skilled tradesmen in the auto plants.

Dunnebeck said he has found an Achilles heel in the UAW's recent failure to reopen labor contracts and negotiate wage hikes for skilled tradesmen at General Motors Corp., Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. Acceptance by the UAW's International Executive Board of the Big Three's refusal to reopen contracts, Dunnebeck said, indicated the UAW skilled tradesman "is a minority in an industrial union which has no interest in him."

He said the society is the "overwhelming choice" over the UAW among skilled workers. The skilled are workers such as tool makers, die makers, electricians and millwrights.

"Every major auto plant in the Detroit area is covered with our organizational activity right now — almost every plant in Michigan, in fact," Dunnebeck said. "We've got through almost every one (plant) in Indiana and Ohio."

In 1967, he said, the society plans to petition the National Labor Relations Board for a representation election in all plants of the major automobile firms.

A similar attempt by the society was turned down by the NLRB in 1958. The society then sought to hold representation elections among skilled workers at some of the Big Three auto plants.

But the board ruled that tradesmen could abandon the UAW for another union only on a companywide basis, because that was the way the UAW had the industry organized.

The society, originally formed in Flint in 1953, claimed to have a membership of 50,000 before it lost its representation fight in 1958.

Supreme Court Will Try Apportionment For Counties Again

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court agreed today to try again to decide the question of county apportionment.

The court said it would grant Gov. George Romney's request for an advisory opinion on the question of apportioning county boards of supervisors on a one man-one vote basis.

The court has considered the question twice before — upholding one man-one vote apportionment in a Kent County case and upholding existing and contrary apportionment in a Muskegon County suit.

Romney requested the advisory opinion after he signed into a law a bill apportioning county boards on a strict population basis. The law contradicts the State Constitution, which calls for one supervisor from each organized township regardless of size.

If found constitutional, the bill will become law about next March 31.

Interested parties will be able to file briefs with the court until Oct. 15 and the question of oral arguments will be decided later, said the order written by Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh.

Enterprise Week

Canada Pipeline Bid Is Rejected

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian Cabinet has rejected a bid by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. to build an east-west pipeline with a section passing through the United States.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced that the project was conditionally approved by the National Energy Board, but that the Cabinet reversed the decision in the national interest.

The 36-inch natural gas pipeline would have linked Emerson, Man., with Sarnia, through the United States, feeding Alberta gas to markets in Ontario and Quebec. Cost of the project was estimated at $212 million.

Pearson said the government opposes a pipeline that would pass through the United States.

"The gas transmission industry is a public utility on a vast scale, and is important to Canadian national well-being," he said in a statement after a Cabinet meeting last Thursday night.

"The development of its main links between East and West should, we believe, remain wholly under Canadian jurisdiction."

LBJ Rejects Truman Fear High Interest Bids Slump

Russell Terms Reserve Callup Bill Inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said today a House committee's plan to authorize President Johnson to call up about 190,000 Reservists appears to be "a pale substitute for what is needed."

Russell's chilly reception greeted House Armed Services Committee approval of a bill which would authorize the President to place on active duty some 56,000 nondrilling Reservists and about 133,000 other Reservists who have not completed training.

The President has not asked for such authority and many members of Congress have expressed doubt he would ever use it.

Russell, D-Ga., who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, told a newsman he is going to await developments.

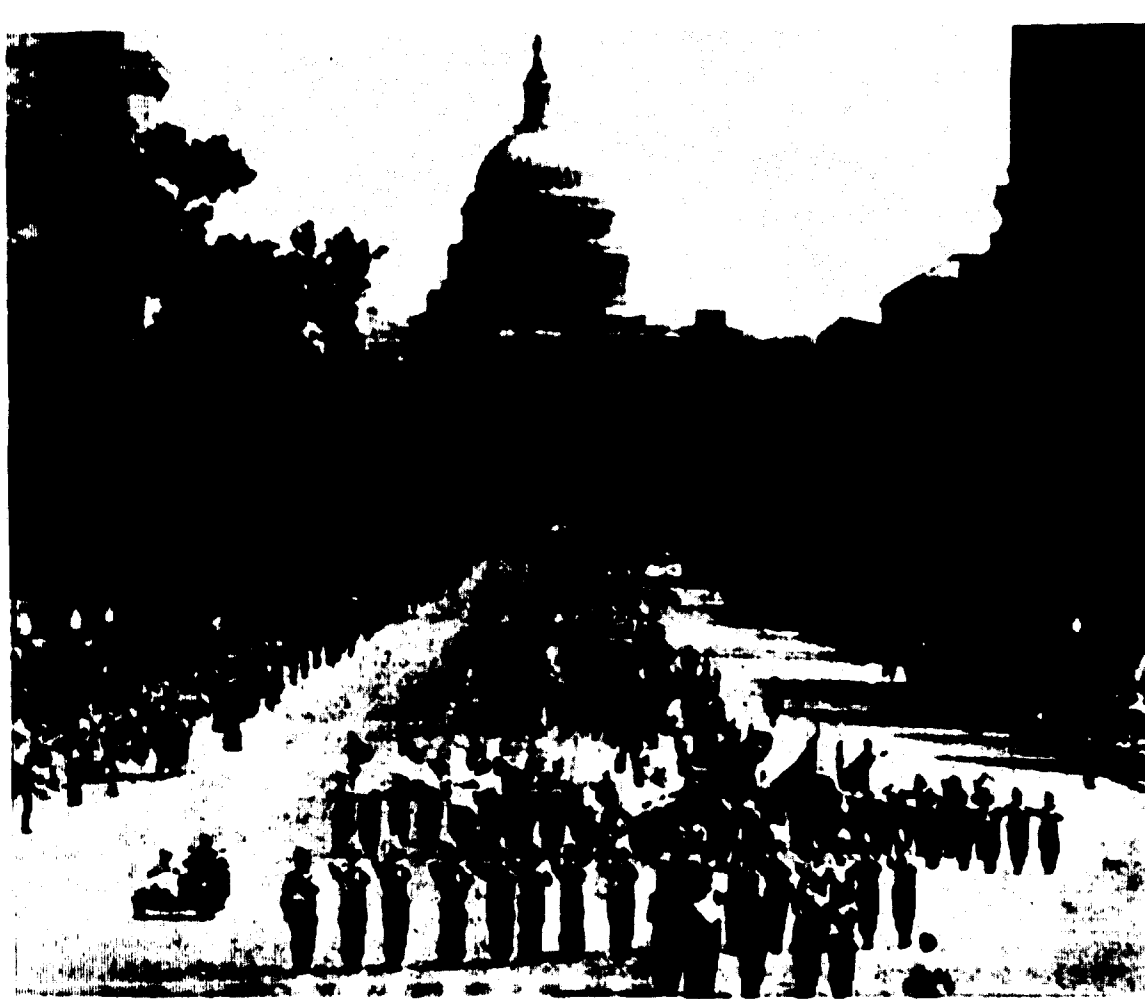

"There is a question in my mind whether this House bill goes far enough," he said. "From press accounts of its terms — and I have had no opportunity to study the bill itself — it looks like a pale substitute for what is needed."

The Senate adopted 66 to 21 last week a Russell amendment to allow the President to require 18 months service from all Reservists or Guardsmen with less than six months active duty — an estimated 500,000 men.

But the House rejected the Russell amendment, tacked onto the $58-billion defense money bill, largely on grounds its Armed Services Committee was working on a separate measure.

When the House committee approved its bill by a 31-1 vote Monday, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., called it a refinement of the language of the Russell proposal.

Rivers said approval of the House measure would eliminate any notion that potential draftees could find a haven by joining the Reserves.

Civil Rights Probe Of American Legion Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Veterans Committee called on President Johnson today to cancel his plan to address the American Legion's national convention, on the ground that the Legion "still overwhelmingly is a segregated organization."

The White House had announced Monday that Johnson would address the legionnaires today in the District of Columbia Armory.

The AVC, with a membership of some 10,000, lodged its protest in a telegram to Johnson contending that the makeup of Monday's legion parade demonstrated the segregation policy.

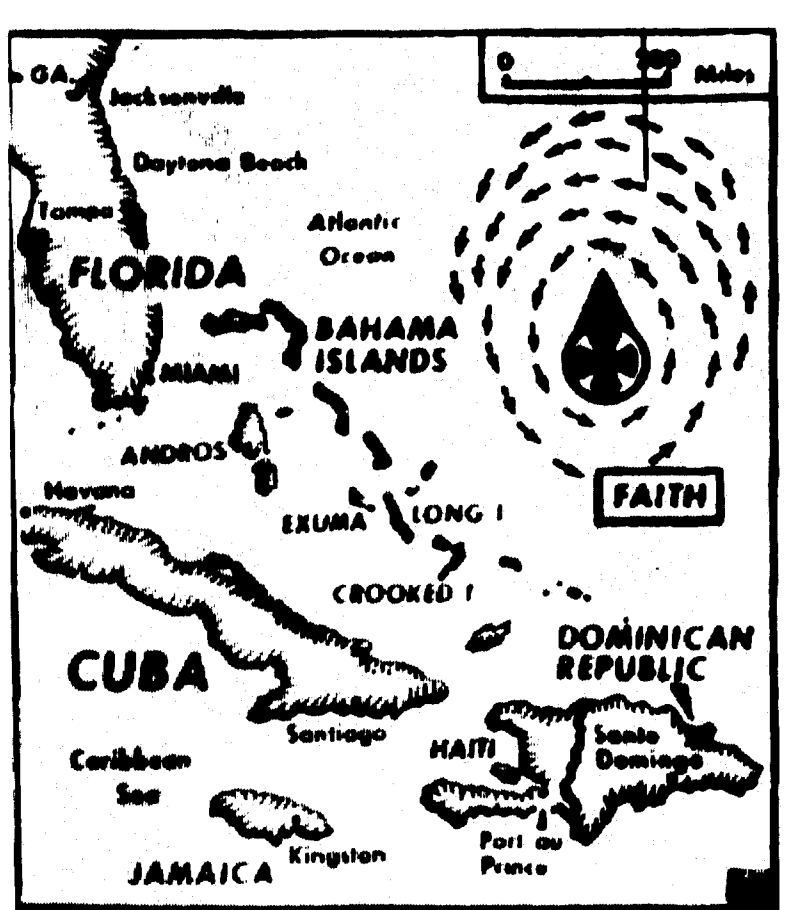

Similar messages were sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Veterans Administrator William J. Driver. The telegram to Driver also asked for an investigation under the Civil Rights Act "concerning federal assistance given to the American Legion and to other veterans organizations whose lack of clear national policy on integration condones or encourages large-scale de facto segregation."

The messages were signed by Ben Neufeld, national vice chairman of the AVC, and Frank E. G. Weil, chairman of the District of Columbia chapter.

Weil said he sat through the entire seven-hour parade and kept a tally of the makeup of marching units.

Of 268 groups observed in the parade, the message to Johnson said, 177 appeared to be all white, 26 appeared to contain "token" Negro participation, four appeared to be composed wholly of "other" groups, 19 appeared to be all Negro, and only 42 were integrated.

Johnson's plans for the speech were announced as the Legion gave evidence of readiness to back a firm policy in Viet Nam. A committee was drafting a resolution calling for dispatch of as many troops as needed for victory.

HURRICANE FAITH, early this morning was centered five miles east of Palm Beach, Fla. At that time she was moving north northwest at seven miles an hour. (AP Wirephoto)

Will Try Taming Hurricane Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — By late tonight, scientists hope to know whether it's possible to tame a mighty hurricane with furious 120-mile-an-hour winds.

Hurricane Faith is the unsuspecting guinea pig.

The big storm stirred the warm Atlantic into a fury today, having whipped small Bahama cut islands with stinging gusts for two days.

Scientists attached to Project Stormfury planned to seed her with silver-iodide "smoke" today. Jets from the U.S. naval base at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, were to drop the silver iodide into the tempestuous wall of the eye.

The project — the world's first large-scale effort to make a hurricane's fury evaporate — was expected to take about 12 hours.

But Hurricane Faith hovered close to the test area boundary. A change of direction to the west could quickly move her beyond the area and force cancellation of the delicate seeding operation.

Scientists were reluctant to seed the storm earlier because it was too close to populated areas. They are not yet certain that strange things — perhaps even an intensification of the storm — might not result from seeding.

Tight Money Is Called Sign Of Economic Vigor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The touchy issue of spiraling interest rates has triggered a top-level disagreement in the Democratic party, with President Johnson challenging former President Harry S. Truman's warning that the high rates could bring on a depression.

Johnson said he shares Truman's concern about the mounting rates.

"However," he added, "I cannot agree with President Truman that our economy is in danger of recession or depression."

The President contended the tight money supply mainly reflects "the extreme buoyance of our economy and the resulting very sharp rise in the demand for credit."

Symptoms Of Strength

In a statement issued from his Texas ranch, the President said Monday: "These are symptoms of strength, not weakness."

But, the President said, "we need to find better ways to restrain inflationary pressures than by resort merely to the high interest rates we have been witnessing."

This comment prompted some members of Congress to say privately that the President may be beginning to think of new legislative proposals to deal with the situation.

The President's statement came less than 24 hours after Truman, in a rare public statement issued from his Independence, Mo., home, hit at the high rates.

Depression Danger

"If we persist in high interest rates," Truman said, "the result could be a serious depression."

He said higher rates are an added burden on all governments — federal, state and local — and that "added interest costs end up as a further tax on the consumer."

He said a drastic rise in interest rates "only benefits the privileged few. There is yet time to remedy the situation."

House Speaker John W. McCormack sided with Truman. Asked at a news conference about Truman's statement, the speaker said "I agree with him."

Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio said the country should heed Truman's warning.

Democratic Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, chairman of the House Banking Committee, took the House floor to praise Truman's statement.

Limit Time Rates

In the wake of the flurry of statements, the House Rules Committee considers today a bill that could bring the interest rate issue before the House.

The measure would only set a 4 1/2 per cent limit on the interest banks pay on certain deposits. But its political impact is heightened by the Johnson-Truman exchange.

As approved by the House Banking Committee, the bill would apply to certificates of deposit and other deposits, up to $100,000, left with commercial banks for a definite time.

It is intended to reduce competition between banks and savings and loan associations for the kind of savings that usually have gone to finance home construction.

Canada Strikers Label Govt. Bill 'No Solution'

OTTAWA (AP) — Union leaders turned thumbs down today on Canadian government legislation to end the nationwide wage strike of 118,000 railroad workers.

Spokesmen for the striking rail unions said the government bill was "no solution." It provides an eight per cent interim wage hike for the strikers, who are demanding an average 30 per cent increase, and orders contract talks resumed under threat of compulsory arbitration.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, warning that a prolonged strike could end in national disaster, introduced the measure Monday at a special session of the House of Commons.

Beach To Close On Wednesday

The Recreation Department announced this morning that the municipal swimming beach will officially close for the season on Wednesday, Aug. 31. Lifeguards will not be on duty over the weekend.

Attendance figures at the beach during the month of July broke all records with crowds of over one thousand enjoying the city-sponsored facility in the afternoons. Patronage fell off after the middle of August and only a skeleton staff of lifeguards was on duty at the end of the month.

Francis Lueneburg, in his 20th season at the beach, directed all the activities on the waterfront and instructed the boys in the Beginners division swimming classes. Linda Wylie, graduate of the National Aquatic School, assisted Mr. Lueneburg and was responsible for the girls in the Beginners division.

Tom McKie served as water safety instructor and conducted the Junior and Senior Life Saving classes for boys and girls 12 years of age and older. He was assisted by Tom Mein, a lifeguard in his second year at the local beach.

Martha Johnson was in charge of the Swimmers, Intermediate, and Advanced classes in addition to performing guard duty on weekends. Tom Bjorkquist, who was a lifeguard last year, assisted with the swimming classes and was on duty in the water every weekend.

Joe Mileski completed his first season at the beach and served as lifeguard until the staff was cut during the fourth week of August. Most of the instructors and guards are expected to be back at the beach next year.

Bear Hunting Opens Sept. 1

The early bear hunting season in the Upper Peninsula will open on Sept. 1 and will close Sept. 15, it is reported by Robert Timmer, Escanaba District law supervisor, Department of Conservation.

All U. P. counties will be open except Keweenaw. Bear also may be taken Oct. 1 through Nov. 5 and during the firearms deer season Nov. 12-27. Dogs may be used in the September and October bear seasons. The bear license fee in September and October is $5 for resident hunters and $25 for non-residents.

During the November firearm season the bear may be taken on the gun-deer license.

Minors under the age of 14 are not eligible to purchase bear or deer licenses. Those between the ages of 14 and 17 must be accompanied by parents or appointed guardians while hunting. The bag limit is one bear per person per calendar year.

Bear licenses may be purchased at the Escanaba District Headquarters or at the district offices or field stations in the U.P.

Social Season Begins At Club

The fall program of social activities for the Senior Citizens and the Golden Age Club will begin this week at Club 314. The opening meeting of the Golden Agers is scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 31, at 7:30 p.m. The Senior Citizens will hold their first meeting of the new season on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Both of these groups of elderly people use the facilities at Club 314 for dancing and card games. Lunch is served after every meeting. Because of the large number of members in each group, meetings are held on alternate weeks.

After the opening of Club 314 for the young people of the community on Sept. 19, the Senior Citizens and the Golden Agers will meet every other Tuesday night. Beginning Sept. 21, Wednesday nights will be reserved for boys and girls of college age. Teenagers of high school age will enjoy the facilities at Club 314 on Monday, Thursday, and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons after the football season.

Accreditation Loss Is Pending

Delta High Schools Threatened

By JEAN WORTH
The recent elections in Delta County on proposed school district consolidations have had a serious aftermath.

One school district has had its accreditation suspended and will learn in an appeal hearing at the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services at 4 p.m. Sept. 8 whether it is to be reinstated, and another has been warned that it will lose its accreditation in a year unless it takes two steps of school improvement.

The most seriously affected district is Rapid River, which embraces three townships and which it was proposed to hook onto the Gladstone District.

The other district threatened with loss of accreditation is Bark River-Harris, which embraces two townships and which it was proposed to hook onto the Escanaba Area School District, which already includes three townships and the City of Escanaba.

Electors rejected the proposed Rapid River-Gladstone and Bark River-Harris-Escanaba Area consolidations.

The threat to remove the two districts from accreditation by the University of Michigan's Bureau of School Services was coincidental and not related to the failure of the school reorganization plans, but they are related. School reorganization is pushed by the State Department of Education to upgrade public schools. So is high school accreditation by the U-M Bureau of School Services.

Accreditation is a certification of adequate standards. In Delta County the Escanaba Area and Gladstone high schools are accredited by both the U-M and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Also accredited by the U-M are Rapid River, Bark River-Harris, Holy Name and Rock High Schools.

Delta's other high schools, at Garden, Nahma and Perkins have not been accredited.

Rock Accredited
Periodic visitation renews a school's accreditation. This year's round of inspections resulted in 5 more years accreditation for Rock High School, reports Supt. George Weingartner. It resulted in the suspension of Rapid River's accreditation now on appeal to the Accreditation Appeal Committee of the U-M, and the warning to Bark River-Harris that it must make some changes to keep its accreditation.

The basic reason for the actions threatening loss of accreditation, say the school administrators immediately involved, is lack of funds. In the case of Rapid River it has used its extra voted millage to increase its teachers pay and has not had enough income to do all the things which the accreditation inspectors said was necessary.

Rapid River High School, operating since 1908 and accredited by the U-M since 1913, was told that its building wasn't structurally safe, but Supt. Walter Peters reports that a Milwaukee engineering-architectural firm which inspected the building two years ago found it structurally safe.

Guidance Looking
Also wanting, the accreditation report said, is a guidance program, proper class size, secretarial aid, and some other things.

Peters said that Rapid River's problems are not confined to its high school. Its new elementary school—the only one in the district—needs four more classrooms to accommodate its present enrollment and maintain a satisfactory teacher-student ratio.

Bark River-Harris' accreditation problem is its old high school, rated inadequate, and "the inappropriateness of library facilities." What that means, says Principal Lloyd Bruce "is not enough books." The books per student ratio was found adequate, but not the total number of volumes in the school library. Bark River-Harris is on one year's tentative accreditation with warning to supply the deficiencies.

Only a new high school, or consolidation with a district having a satisfactory high school, would satisfy the needs. Supt. Richard Hendra said "As an educator I agree with the accreditation aims fully, but as a rural superintendent they dismay me. Our basic problem is lack of means."

Since 1923
Supt. Weingartner said Rock High School has had U-M accreditation since 1923. It was notified earlier to improve its library and counseling. "So we have a full-time librarian now and 6,000 volumes, and we have a counselor who counsels half day and teaches half day."

"Our pupils would be on the road four or five hours a day if they went to Gladstone and about the same to Gwinn. We're pretty close to Escanaba in teachers' base pay, but now I notice that Negaunee has gone to $8,700 minimum. We have nearly 50 per cent of teachers with master's degrees and a ratio of one teacher to 27-28 students."

Rock has 8.5 mills extra voted for school operation, Rapid River has 3 mills and Bark River 3.5 mills.

District Size
Michigan School Reorganization Act 389 sets up a guideline of 3,000 student enrollment minimum for a kindergarten-through-high school district in the state. Rapid River has 506, Bark River-Harris 671 and Rock about 400.

The small high school administrators say that funds available to their districts have permitted their schools to offer courses which are reasonably competitive with the large schools academically, but that the cultural programs aren't comparable and that the great deficiency of the little high schools is that they do not offer enough to the student who is not going on to college. Their vocational preparation, is too little.

Need Rooms To House Teachers For Conference

The Housing Committee of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce said today that they are "quite concerned" over the lack of rooms in private homes for the use of teachers who come to the MEA Convention on October 6.

The hotels and the motels will be filled but rooms are needed in private homes for between 600 and 700 teachers who will need this type of accommodation.

The Chamber of Commerce urgently requests that home owners who have available bedrooms notify them at 786-2192, registering their rooms as being available for the MEA convention Thursday, Oct. 6.

"We are asking those families who have a spare bedroom and who through local civic pride want to help at this time of need to further assist in keeping this big convention in Escanaba," said Walter Lawrie, Chamber manager.

Soviet Fishermen Hit The Deck As Beer Can Hisses

COOS BAY, Ore. (AP) — A party of sport fishermen thought international relations were warming up as they exchanged goods with about 30 crew members aboard a Soviet trawler 10 miles off the southern Oregon Coast.

But trading nearly came to an abrupt halt when a Soviet seaman opened a can of American beer passed to his vessel.

"The snap top came off easily, but with a hissing spray of beer," said Pat Rooney Jr. "Those crewmen hit the deck as though they expected a grenade to go off."

Beginning Band Concert Is Set For Wednesday

One hundred beginning band members will present a concert in the auditorium of the Escanaba Area Public High School Wednesday, Aug. 31, at 10 a.m. The members are 6th grade students who have successfully completed the requirements to continue in the beginning band program.

Each student has been tested in rhythm, pitch, reading of notes and their understanding, embouchure development, and learning an interest in music and the instrument they are playing, said John Chown, band director.

The six week summer course has been "very successful and the students have developed musically to a much greater degree than anticipated," he said. The students have received daily instruction under the direction of David Laakso and Chown band instructors in the public schools.

During the school year the band members will receive instruction three times weekly in the various grade schools throughout the system. All parents and friends are invited to the concert and are asked to use the West or North parking lot. The parents will have a chance to confer with the directors after the concert on any question that concerns their child's musical education.

Plan Training For Traffic Safety Workers

A survey of all traffic safety workers in Delta County was begun this week as part of a state-wide program recently initiated by the Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University to establish a plan for training all professional and volunteer traffic workers in Michigan.

John D. Slapp, instructor, driver education, in Escanaba, has been appointed county coordinator for the program in Delta County. During the next two weeks, Slapp will be responsible for determining the number and kinds of traffic workers in the county, their functions and responsibilities, and the training they have received to date.

In announcing Slapp's appointment, Gordon H. Shee, director of MSU's Highway Traffic Safety Center said similar surveys were now being conducted in the majority of Michigan counties. The surveys will constitute the initial phase of the total program, Shee observed.

"The raw data collected in the counties now will be of utmost importance to the overall objectives of the entire program," Shee said. "I urge all concerned with traffic safety in the state to offer their full cooperation during the survey in order that the data collected will be as complete and accurate as possible."

Advisory groups of state and national accident prevention experts will be involved in the second phase of the program to establish standards and training needs for each level and category of traffic worker in Michigan.

In the final phase, the staff of the Highway Traffic Center, MSU's Continuing Education Service, will recommend a plan for training all state workers, which will include guides for administration, financing, organization, and available facilities.

NEGAUNEE — Resolutions asking transfer of state-owned lands in the proposed Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore to the federal government passed the Michigan House and Senate unanimously.

Rep. Dominic J. Jacobetti, Negaunee (D-108th District), said today that the resolutions request the Michigan Department of Conservation to transfer the 5,000 acres of land it holds within the park area to the U.S. Department of the Interior at no cost.

HANCOCK — There's something to Northern hospitality, that mesmerized the state Soil Conservation District and many of the directors took the time to say that they were going to carry "the good word" to the southern end of Michigan. Over 200 people registered for the sessions and almost every district of the 80 in the state was represented.

MARQUETTE — Gunther Christian Meyland, 69, professor emeritus of language and literature at Northern Michigan University, died Aug. 27 in St. Luke's Hospital. He was a member of Northern's faculty for 37 years, from 1924 until his retirement in 1961.

Blaney Is Sold

The sale of Blaney Park to a Howell real estate group that will offer its central resort complex for sale as a recreation center and divide up its outlying lands for sale to individuals looking for woodland properties marks a milestone on the Upper Peninsula's long road to development as a recreational area.

The Earles of Hermansville developed Blaney Park as a resort when their lumbering town of Blaney had used up its usefulness as a logging center. G. Harold Earle had a special interest in Blaney Park and was most prominently identified with its development but his brother, Stewart E. Earle, was co-owner of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co., the family firm which owned and developed it.

And when the brothers divided their holdings in 1948 it was Stewart Earle who became the owner of Blaney, while Harold Earle became the owner of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co. and its Hermansville holdings.

Resorting has changed a great deal in the 40 years since Blaney quit logging and spruced up for the hosting of recreation seekers. The property was a huge one and it was advertised as 33,000 acres of something different. The cottages and other buildings of the settlement were improved and some new facilities like the dining room and bar were added along with tennis courts, a golf course, swimming pool, airport and other instruments of pleasure.

The big property has inland lakes and trout streams and its forest is a happy hunting ground. There was a Paul Bunyan Museum and a Paul Bunyan Railroad to entertain guests and create some northern atmosphere and color. Mackinac was the Upper Peninsula's only big historic resort area and Blaney was a bold venture in conversion of an attractive property from wood industry to play-for-pay.

America's vacation habits have changed a great deal in the past four decades since Blaney Park's birth. When it opened, many families still went to one resort and spent their vacation there. Today touring is much more popular, cars and highways are immensely improved and people would rather see a couple hundred miles of new scenery every day than to watch the ducks on Tee Lake for two weeks.

Blaney flourished and waned. It happened at Saratoga, too, and at Mackinac, but Mackinac is building back to serve a new era that wasn't dreamed of when the railroads and D&C built Plank's Grand Hotel on the island. Blaney added its "Camp 9" on the highway to serve the motel trade; it tried several management changes and it innovated.

Conceived initially as an all-year resort — in this, as in so many things, Blaney was ahead of the times — it finally gave up the winter business, but it hosted deer hunters who shot stags on its forest lands and in recent years it has had a new class of guests, the hunters who shot the geese reared on the Seney Wildlife Refuge.

Stewart Earle decided to find a new use for Blaney rather than experiment in a big way with continued resort operation. He made it available to the state for acquisition and conversion to boys training school use, but the state inquired and decided against the project, probably on point of proximity to the problem areas to be served.

Now 17,000 acres of Blaney have been sold by Earle to Intermar of Michigan, a group of Howell, Mich., realtors, who plan to sell its central resort complex intact and to divide up the outlying acreage.

The change was prompted largely by economics but it should assure that Blaney's best years are ahead. Its huge outland was never of fascinating interest to all its guests — vacationists like wall-to-wall carpeting better than tree-to-tree leaf litter — and it will still have four square miles of woodlands, lakes, golf course and air strip.

Very few resorts have such a fiefdom, and Blaney of the future will be surrounded by a recreational colony of landowners who should make it busier and more prosperous and more attractive to visitors.

Meanwhile, Stewart Earle has given options to Bethlehem Steel Co. for exploration on about 10,000 acres of Simmons Woods and Blaney to determine the feasibility of commercial development of the dolomite deposit there. It would be used for steel furnace fluxing stone.

Blaney is going to change and make true again its old boast of "something different."

The Doctor Says:

Alphabetical Disorder Found

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandt
Dr. Trevor Weston in London has called attention to a syndrome which he calls the alphabetical disorder. He stumbled onto this condition when he discovered that people whose surnames begin with the last 8 letters of the alphabet (the S to Z crowd) have a life expectancy of only 64 years in contrast to 76 years for the total population. They also have a higher susceptibility to peptic ulcer, heart disease and mental illness.

Dr. Weston believes that these strange facts are due in large part to a life that is a series of minor frustrations. As children in school the victims lined up alphabetically for their turn at games, presents and even party snacks. By the time their names came up the game may have bored the A-R group, the presents may have been pretty much picked over or the snacks may have completely disappeared. Even when there was a frantic call for fresh snacks, a gnawing irritation had already started sending too much adrenalin through the unhappy child's system.

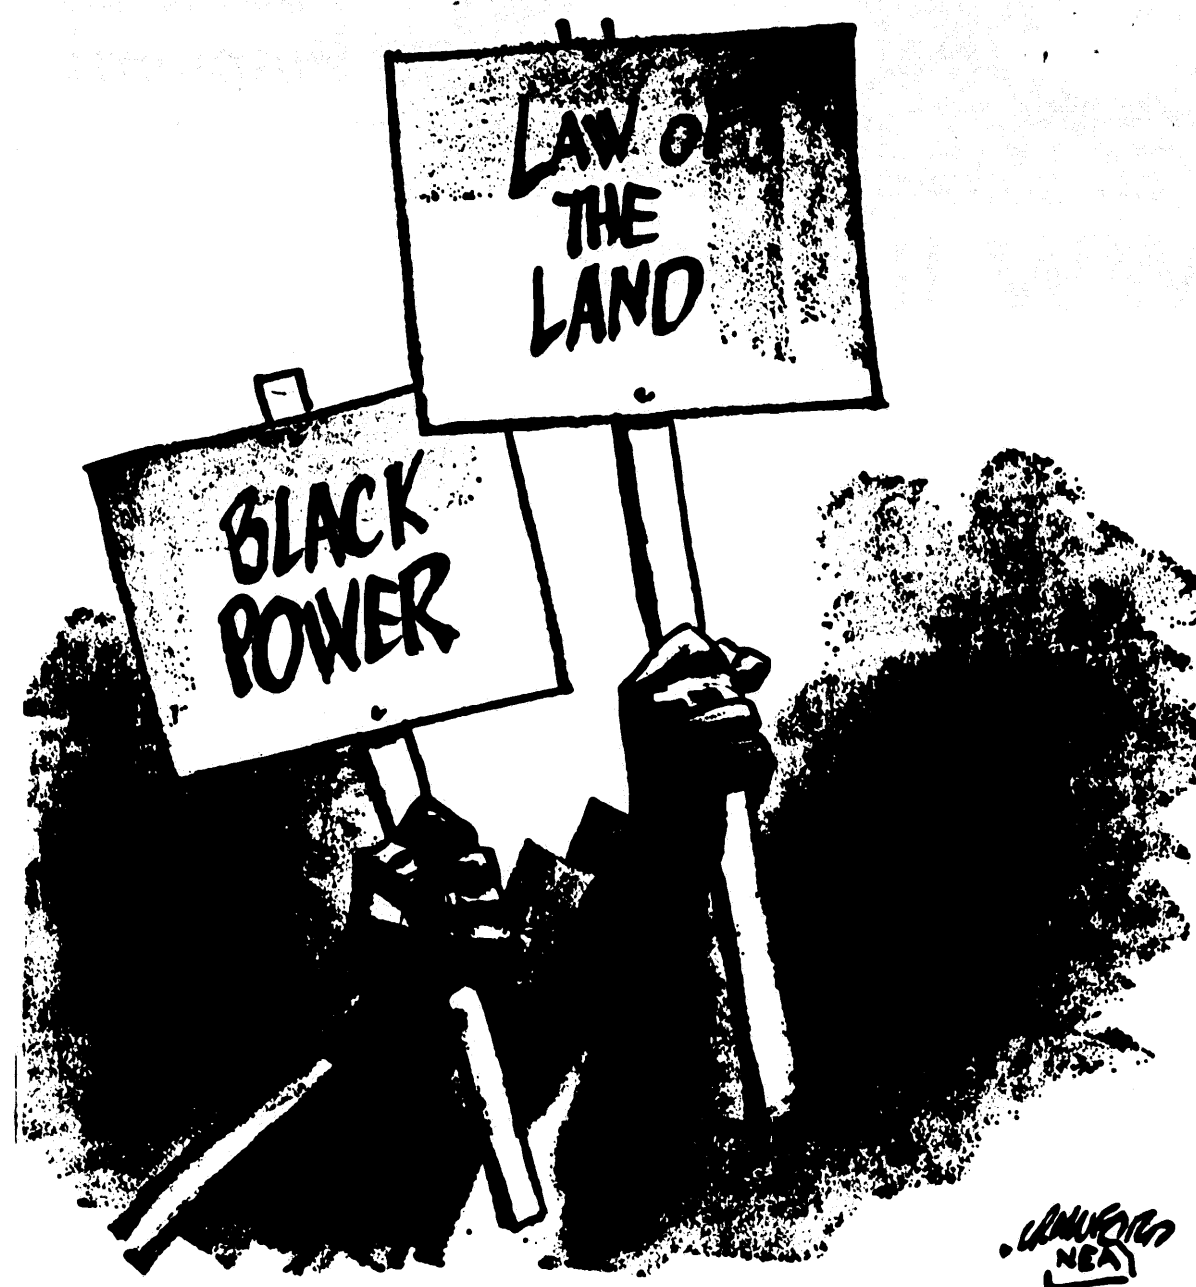

When it comes to seating arrangements in school the S-Z lads are placed in the back of the room. Although the teacher may keep a sharper eye on them to detect mischief, there is never any doubt that willy-nilly

Q — Is it possible to have too much salt in one's blood?
A — Yes, especially if you get too much salt and too little water in your diet. The immediate result is an increased thirst. Your body combats this condition by increasing the concentration of salt in your urine and decreasing the quantity of your perspiration. Since most persons respond to the increased thirst by drinking water, the condition usually corrects itself.

Q — Is Epsom salts harmful?
A — A friend says it helps her reduce water-logging by clearing the intestines of fluid.

A — All laxatives should be avoided because they irritate the bowel and are the chief cause of colitis. There are other drugs for the treatment of water-logging that are preferable to Epsom salts.

How to Overcome

House Members Seek Change To Four Year Plan

LANSING (AP) — "Greed," cry the opponents.

"Good government," say the advocates.

"Quit pestering us," moan the senators.

The issue: four-year terms for state representatives.

The House approved last week a proposed constitutional amendment which would double representatives' terms from two to four years beginning Jan. 1, 1967. It could be acted upon by the Senate this week.

But even if the required two-thirds of the Senate go along with the amendment, it must be approved by a public vote before taking effect.

Political ramifications ooze from every pore of the plan.

House appetites for four-year terms were whetted by the new Constitution, which increased Senate terms from two to four years beginning next January.

The four-year Senate, two-year House plan set by the Constitution matches the system of 31 other states. Thirteen states give all legislators only two-year terms.

Less Campaigning

Major argument for the longer terms is that lawmakers can devote more time to work and less to re-election.

The complaint of many legislators — and U.S. congressmen as well — is they can work their first year in office but have to campaign most of the second in order to win another year of work.

The House plan would put House elections in the same year as gubernatorial and Senate elections.

Some opponents say at least part of the government should be judged by the people more often than every four years. They suggest half the House could be elected at one general election for four years, the other half at an election two years later.

Want Extra Years

Other foes say representatives just want to guarantee their new $15,000 checks for an extra two years.

Senators, however, do not want to create any situation where a House member could get a free crack at a Senate seat. This could happen if, for example, a House member won a four-year term in 1968 and challenged a senator in 1970 without giving up the House seat.

Rarely does a senator ever run for a House seat, but House members do seek Senate seats while at the same time dismissing any contention the Senate is a more prestigious body.

The four-year term, however, has given senators a tangible advantage over the equally paid and equally hard working House members, and seemingly promoted some jealousy from the House.

While few senators are enthusiastic about giving the

Griffin Predicts After Election Boost In Taxes

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., predicted Sunday the Johnson administration would wait until after the fall election and then increase taxes to pay for the war in Viet Nam.

Griffin, who met with state Republican nominees for the November election, said a hike in taxes might not be necessary if the administration would cut back on some domestic programs.

The senator supported an "All-Asian peace conference" to settle the Viet Nam conflict. Thailand proposed such a conference. It would include the Philippines, Malaysia, Nationalist China, South Korea, Japan, Australia and New Zealand.

Griffin said if such a conference is established, the United States should attempt to abide by its recommendations.

Griffin is campaigning for election to the Senate against Democrat G. Mennen Williams. He has deferred any attacks on Williams until the former governor recovers from a kidney operation.

Griffin canceled his scheduled visits to a plant gate and shopping centers in the Detroit area today because he sprained his ankle Sunday.

Justice Waiting Game

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The nation's judiciary, the heralded "third branch" in the co-ordinate U.S. system of government, is on the way toward breaking down in some critical areas.

The courts — federal, state and local — are generally so overburdened, so inefficient and so ill-equipped to cope with the avalanche of problems descending upon them that justice is either being delayed or denied in thousands upon thousands of cases.

From 1962 through 1965, the case backlog in all U.S. district courts rose 15 per cent to an astonishing 74,000.

More than 1,700 cases in New York's Southern District, where 24 judges preside, last summer had been pending more than three years. In Pennsylvania's Eastern District, with 11 judges, the rising backlog reached 6,000 last year, with the median delay at 41 months.

State courts are no better. The average litigant in Cook County, Illinois, waits nearly six years from filing to trial in a Circuit Court civil jury case. The backlog in Texas exceeds 217,000 cases.

Uncounted thousands of individuals and many corporations are simply bearing injustice rather than undertake the cost of litigation in time and money. Thousands of cases are settled out of court, often with no justice to the complainant, for the same reason.

In case after case, the result of this near-breakdown in the judicial system is to reward the offender, the civil wrongdoer, sometimes even the nuisance-maker who figures it may not be worth his victim's trouble to sue.

The alarms are really clanging now, but they seem not to have stirred any sweeping public clamor for action. Nevertheless, it is abundantly clear that judicial reform warrants a far higher priority than either congressional or executive reform.

What a streamlined court system can do is illustrated dramatically in Los Angeles, where the Superior Court— with 120 judges serving a huge area—undertook administrative reforms which cut delays in civil jury cases from more than 2 years to less than six months.

Letters To The Press

MANY

In its coverage of the meeting held by the Michigan Indian Affairs Commission (8-26-66), the Escanaba Daily Press credited me with saying that I was negotiating with the Alger-Delta Co-op to bring power into the Hannahville area.

In my discussion of this matter before the Commission, I specifically named: Bill Bolin, resident agent of the Department of Indian Affairs, Joseph Turner and Frank Mead of UPAC and Richard Hendra, superintendent of the Bark River-Harris Schools, as members of the committee working on the power proposal. Since their names were inadvertently omitted from the news article, it gives the impression that just the Community Action Agency is involved. Nothing could be further from the truth! There are many people, from both Menominee and Delta counties, who have manifested an interest in the power project; and, we have received many offers of assistance.

Your cooperation in publishing this letter so credit will be given to the men named above, who have given much time and effort to the program, will be greatly appreciated.

Ann Landers

Sensible Hypotenuse Back Down To Earth

Dear Ann Landers: I was the "hypotenuse" of a love triangle and therefore I'm qualified to speak on the subject. I'd like to make a plea through your column to every woman who is involved with a married man.

Please put yourself in the place of his wife. Can you conceive of her private heartache and public shame if her husband should die of a heart attack in your apartment or in a back-street cafe or a motel when you two are hiding out?

How would the story look in the newspapers if you two should become involved in a serious accident? What if the car hits an oil slick, or the boat springs a leak, or the bleachers collapse? Far-fetched? Yes, of course, but such things happen.

The wife may not be aware that you exist. Can you imagine her humiliation when she learns? And of course if there are children, what would it do to them?

Please give some thought to all the implications. Girls, the next time you date a married man—ONE WHO DIDN'T—

Dear One Who Didn't: Cheaters often live in a world of fantasy. Your letter may bring some of them back to reality. Let's hope so.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teen-ager (19) but I'm a rock and roll disc jockey, too. My work brings me into close contact with hundreds of teenagers every day. They dig me and I dig them.

If you've said it once you've said it a thousand times. "Most boys will take whatever is offered, plus whatever they can talk a girl into—or out of. It's up to the girl to turn him off."

This is true, Miss Landers, but I know some nice guys who got into trouble and it was the girl's idea. Some boys don't want to get involved in heavy love-making but when a girl moves in and takes over, the temptation is too much for a normal guy.

So please, Ann Landers, say something. It's time the boys were relieved of some of the responsibility.—D.P. the D.J.

Dear D.J.: You've been so busy spinning those discs that you've missed some of my columns. I've said plenty about it. I'm well aware it's not all ways the boy's fault. I've said repeatedly that unless a boy uses a lead pipe or chloroform, considering the quality of entertainment in some night spots, the thought occurs: "Why an amusement tax?"

A handyman is the perennial bachelor wives invite to fill out a lopsided guest list.

Pity the poor homemaker. Whereas she once slaved over a hot stove all day, she now faces the danger of frostbite while opening frozen food packages.

Ask Watuts dancers what a waltz is, and they'll tell you a waltz is something of which you need four to hold up the roof.

Five Days Longer

This was one of several changes in the more liberalized waterfowl hunting regulations adopted recently by the Michigan Conservation Commission.

The duck season will extend this year from Oct. 10 through Nov. 23—five days longer than last year. (The season on jack-snipe, coots, rails and gallinules will run concurrently with the duck season.)

Special Restrictions Lifted

The goose season in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula will extend from Oct. 1 through Nov. 30. A change this year is a 10 a. m. start of hunting on opening day. There also will be a 10 a. m. start on Oct. 10, opening day of the duck season. With these exceptions, waterfowl hunting will extend from sunrise to sunset throughout the seasons.

Although the duck season's basic bag limits will remain unchanged, special restrictions have been lifted on pintails, and mallard quotas have been relaxed from one per day and two in possession to two and four.

Liberal Change

Within the regular limits of four and eight, hunters may have two canvasbacks and two wood ducks in the bag and four of both species in possession. This is a liberal change from last year when the possession limit was two canvasbacks and two wood ducks.

Following last year's format, American, red-breasted and hooded mergansers will make up a special bag quota over and above the basic duck limits. Hunters will be able to take five of these birds per day and have 10 in possession. However, they again are restricted to one hooded merganser in the bag and two in possession under these limits.

Goose Limits

Patterned after last year's bag limits, the geese take again will be five birds per day. The possession limit also is five. No more than two Canada geese, or one of each, is permitted in any day's kill.

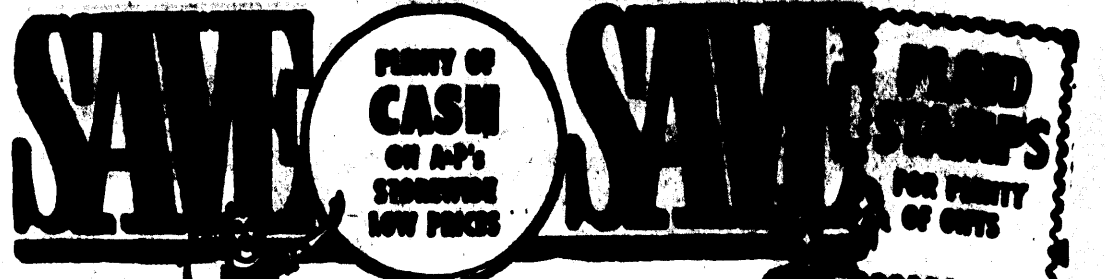

Bag limits remain the same as last year on coots (10 and 20), rails and gallinules (15 and 30) and jacksnipe 8 and 16).

56 Million New School Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated record enrollment of about 56 million is in prospect for the nation's public and private schools and colleges this fall, the Office of Education reports.

This will be the 22nd consecutive fall enrollment record. The increase is figured at about 2.6 per cent, with last year's enrollment estimated to have been 54.5 million.

The office figured that about three of every 10 persons in the United States will be in school at some level this fall — and the cost of operating all schools will push close to $50 billion.

The biggest percentage increase in enrollment is expected at the higher-education level. Some 6 million students are figured to enroll in colleges and universities, 9.9 per cent more than last fall's 5.5 million.

High school students are figured to increase by 2.3 per cent, to 13.3 million from 13 million.

There's a whole new world ahead. School. A mother can't share that world. But she can send him off with confidence, in the shoe that understands children. The Stride Rite shoe.

Susan K. Smith Bride Of Donald D. McNeely

The Immanuel Lutheran Church in Escanaba, decorated with two tall standards of white gladiolus and yellow and white pompons, was the setting Saturday, Aug. 27 for the wedding of Miss Susan Kay Smith and Donald Dean McNeely. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mrs. William J. Smith, 2007 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba and the late Mr. Smith. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. McNeely, Rte. 1, Powers.

The Rev. Ben F. Helmer, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Escanaba, officiated at the 2 p. m. double ring ceremony and the sacrament of Holy Communion.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her brother, William Van Smith of Chicago, to the processional music of Marcello's, "Psalm 19", which followed a vocal duet by Miss Julie Garrard and Miss Susan Garrard. Buxtehude's "Lord, Who At Cana's Wedding Feast".

Mrs. Pearl St. Clair, Escanaba, provided the organ music for the ceremony, accompanying Miss Julie Garrard with her vocal solo of William's "Wedding Prayer" following the Communion service, and playing Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" for the recessional.

Textured Linen
For her wedding, the bride chose a chalk white gown of imported textured linen. The high rise bodice with scoop neckline was trimmed with re-embroidered alencon lace and the elbow length sleeves were set with matching lace and a tiny bow. Lace scalloped formed the hemline of her floor length, A-line gown, the skirt being trimmed with twin appliques of lace. The detachable chapel train, scalloped to match the hemline of the gown, was held at the waist by a bow and a linen bow edged with lace held her elbow length bouffant silk veil.

A mother-of-pearl covered prayer book, brought from the Holy Land by her godmother, was carried by the bride with a cluster of white orchids, stephanotis and smilax.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Please tell your readers not to throw or give away their baby's receiving blankets when they are no longer needed.

With seven in our family, we never have enough bath towels.

There is nothing softer or more absorbent than receiving blankets. I use them for the smaller children's baths.

The older children and I find them wonderful for drying our hair.

Reader

Dear Heloise:

After I wash and dry my nylon hose, I put on white gloves to sort them.

The gloves make it easy for me to see the hose that have runners and also protects them from snags while sorting.

Rose Hughes

Dear Heloise:

One of the easiest ways to keep paint off the light fixtures when repainting a room is to tie or tape paper or plastic bags over each fixture.

While the bag is over the light, turn the light OFF so the bag won't get hot.

This is easier than removing the fixture or cleaning it later.

Gladys LeFebvre

Dear Heloise:

When using my sewing machine to sew on buttons, I found it difficult to slide the button under the presser foot without getting it out of place.

I now save time by putting each button in place with a piece of transparent plastic tape, sew through the tape, and in a matter of minutes, all the buttons are on in the right places.

I then remove the tape.

Enlarged button holes can be repaired by ironing a piece of press-on tape on the back of the material and slitting the tape with a razor blade to correct size.

Three Children Missing From Home At Wells

Three children were reported missing from their home at Wells and were being sought today by State Police and other officers. There appeared to be no immediate concern for their safety.

State Police said the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Couillard of Wells, told them they last saw the children at home at 8:40 p.m. Monday.

Missing are Connie Couillard, 14, her sister Debbie 12, and her brother, Randy, 11.

Connie was reported wearing a red swim suit, Debbie a blue swim suit and Randy was dressed in red and white shirt and overalls.

Isle Royale's Trails Conquered

The Dehlin boys of Gladstone and their friend Timmy Bal are back from Isle Royale and the blisters are gone and they're showing colored pictures of the great islands hiking trails that won them Historic Trails Awards.

They spoke to the Gladstone Rotary Club Monday at the Gladstone Yacht Club after Druggist Gust Dehlin introduced them, explaining that he never thought, back in 1922 when the club was being organized that "I would have to fall back on my grandsons to give a program for Rotary."

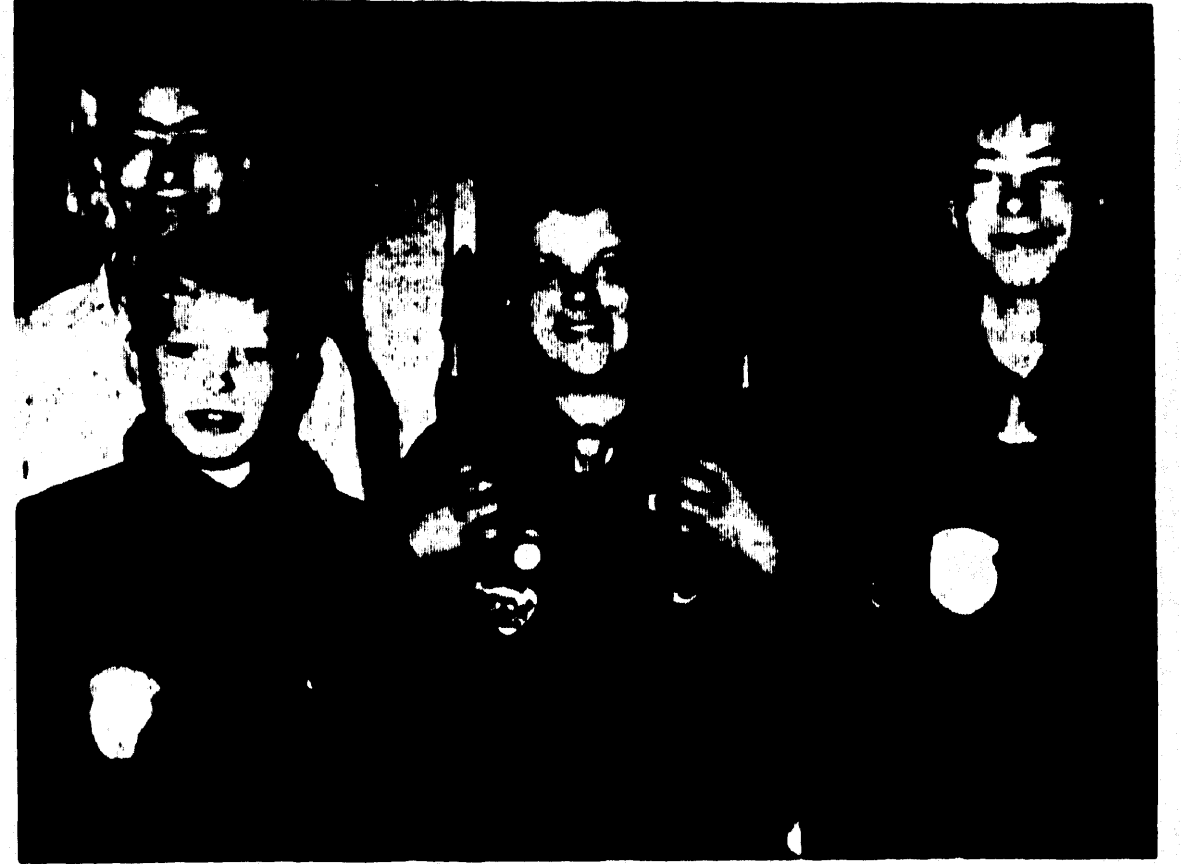

The boys are the sons of Dr. and Mrs. James Dehlin of Gladstone and their father took them and their friend Timmy Bal to Isle Royale recently by air to see its wonders. They hiked more than 40 miles in four days and if that seems just a stroll to the sidewalk set it's good going on Isle Royale, with its glaciated rubble underfoot and a pack weighing up to 40 pounds on your back.

These Hot Rocks
The National Park Service should put the Dehlin Marching and Munching Troupe on its payroll as ambassadors of good will, because no one will hear them tell about their outing without wanting to see something of Isle Royale, although preferably from the veranda at Rock Harbor Lodge.

Actually there were only a couple of blisters on the hike, and they were underfoot, and from legging it under packs on those hot rocks. The boys are Boy Scouts and able (with a doctor father in attendance) to take care of themselves — "A Scout is prepared" — but at one point honesty compelled Jim Dehlin Jr. — "A Scout is honest" — to say "You'll never come into this again!"

They were buoyed up, when their legs got weary on the long marches — rugged Isle Royale in Lake Superior just under Canada's north shore is 50 miles long — by the taunts of friends who'd said they'd never make it. They were going to make it or else and they brought back many attractive color pictures to document their hike to Chickenbone Lake, the Siskiwit Mine (1845), Daisy Farm, the Smithwick Mine (1847) and the other wonders of the archipelago which Ben Franklin got for America as a boundary commissioner.

Moose Pictured
The boys took fine pictures of moose — the island herd has about 850 animals and is kept to that number by the island's timber wolves. The moose are infested by a tapeworm that make the water suspect, so the hikers boiled all their water before drinking it and because that takes a lot of time for tired trappers they put their tea right in it so they wouldn't have to wait for it to cool.

As interesting as the moose they saw a woman they met on the trail — they met very few persons and carried a tent but found a shelter every night — who had suffered a black eye and a sprained ankle.

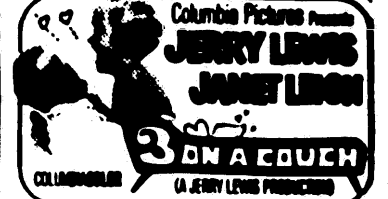

"I can see from that hiking trip," said Dr. Dehlin "why people climb mountains." He didn't explain to the Rotarians just what he meant and some of them thought he meant that the triumphs of survival of the hiker led to ambitions to soar, and others thought that he meant they climbed mountains to get away from those foot trails.

Antigo, season opener for the Escanaba Eskimos Friday night, has been a major power in Wisconsin prep circles in recent years. The Red Robins have won 18, lost 4 and tied 1 in the last three seasons. Two of the setbacks came in their first two starts last year, after which they ran up six straight victories. Among Antigo's 1965 victims was Marinette, 20-13. The Marines defeated Escanaba, 27-7, last year.

Helen Swanson captured the Wawowin Golf Club women's championship by defeating Helen Olson, 2 up. The title was the third in the last four years for the Pontiac school teacher. Lois Levine, defending champion, did not enter the tournament this year.

While Upper Peninsula football action moves into the sports spotlight with the 1966 season openers coming this weekend, wrestling is ready to share the stage with basketball during the winter months. For the first time this year there will be an official Upper Peninsula championship tournament, authorized by the Michigan High School Athletic Association. Schools expected to compete are Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Marquette, Escanaba, Ewen, Munising, Sault Ste. Marie, Newberry and Holy Name, a newcomer in the sport this year.

Newberry High School football games will be played under the lights this fall for the first time in the school's history. The Newberry Booster Club, organized last winter, raised $10,000 for the lighting project through a season ticket sale on a five year subscription basis. Much of the work and equipment was donated by individuals and business concerns in the Newberry area.

Orioles Bounce When They Fall

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, of late, are somewhat akin to babies and inebrates. No matter how often they fall, they don't seem to get hurt.

The Orioles keep losing, but somehow continue stumbling right along toward their first American League pennant.

After games of Aug. 18, the Orioles were ahead of the pack with a 13½-game lead. Since then, they've dropped seven of 10 decisions, but have only two games slipped off their comfortable margin.

The runner-up Detroit Tigers downed the Orioles 6-3 Monday night, and the way pitcher Denny McLain struggled for his 16th victory only accentuated the apparently hopeless task confronting the Tigers.

McLain probably earned baseball's equivalent of the Congressional Medal of Honor with a tireless performance.

The Detroit right-hander threw 229 pitches, walking nine and striking out 11. The Orioles had base runners in every inning but left 13 stranded.

Dallas Is Writer's Choice

Jim Brown Gone, Eastern Division Race Wide Open

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — With Jim Brown gone the Eastern Conference of the National Football League looks like a wide open race. Dallas, Cleveland and New York all have a chance with St. Louis and Philadelphia on the fringe. Washington, Pittsburgh and the new Atlanta Falcons should be fighting it out for what's left.

The pick here is Dallas in a tight fit with the Browns. The Cowboys are a solid defensive team and should have enough offense if Bob Hayes, Mel Renfro and Don Meredith stay in one piece.

Tom Landry has revised the Cowboy offense once again. He has installed a rollout series for Meredith to spread the defense for his pair of pony running backs, Don Perkins and Renfro. The key move has been the switch of Renfro, a flashy halfback at Oregon, from safety to running back.

Fastest Human

Nobody has caught Hayes yet and the world's fastest human is beginning to learn the tricks and intricate pass patterns of pro football after a sensational rookie year as split end.

Injuries, of course, could ruin the Cowboys for they are very thin on the offensive side. The front line must do much better in pass blocking than it did a year ago. Landry expects the return of Tony Liscio to help.

Right tackle Bob Lilly is the all-pro in the defensive machine which may have a hole at Renfro's old safety job. Renfro's ability to handle a punting job can transform the Cowboys from a 7-7 team to a winner.

Here's the way the race looks from here:
1. Dallas
2. Cleveland
3. New York
4. St. Louis
5. Philadelphia
6. Washington
7. Pittsburgh
8. Atlanta

The retirement of Jim Brown has to bring the Browns back to the pack. Leroy Kelly is a 6-foot, 195-pound back with good speed and fine moves but he is not Jim Brown. Trained with Ernie Green, Kelly gives the Browns a strong running game.

Naturally, the Browns will do more passing this year. Frank Ryan's sore arm worried the club in the training season. Ryan and Jim Nicoski have fine targets in Paul Warfield, who missed all of last season except the title game, Gary Collins and Walt Roberts. Milt Morin, the rookie right end, may belong in the Mike Ditka-Ron Kramer class.

Age is Showing
The Browns can be had on defense where they show a little age and are realigning their secondary after losing Larry Ben and Bobby Franklin to Atlanta.

But don't expect Cleveland to fall apart just because Jim Brown has gone. They will be a powerful factor in the race and could win it for the third straight year. However, the schedule is no help, calling for an early game with Green Bay.

The Giants are somewhat of a mystery because of doubts about the ability of rookie tackles, Francis Peay and Don Davis, to handle the experienced defensive ends in the league.

Timberlake Cut By NY Giants

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Former All-America quarterback Bob Timberlake of Michigan was placed on waivers by the New York Giants Monday.

Timberlake, who quarterbacked the University of Michigan to a Rose Bowl championship in 1965, was one of four players put on waivers by the National Football League team.

He signed a two-year contract with New York in January 1965, receiving a salary and bonus estimated in five figures.

In his rookie season last year, the 6-foot-4 Timberlake served as No. 2 quarterback behind Gary Wood. But when the Giants acquired Earl Morrall from the Detroit Lions, Timberlake was dropped to the No. 3 spot.

The Giants used Timberlake mostly on kickoffs, extra points and field goals. This season, New York acquired Pete Gogolak whose soccer-style kicking eliminated the need for Timberlake as a place kicker.

Allie Sherman also is short on defensive tackles. However, the Giants' offense with Earl Morrall passing and men like Tucker Frederickson, Ernie Koy, Chuck Mercein and Steve Turlow running is potent. Joe Morrison and Homer Jones are Morrall's top receivers, a department in which the club could use more speed.

Top Notch Kicker
Pete Gogolak's kicking could mean the difference in tight ball games. Last year by the lack of a field goal kicker, the young linebacksers and Em Tunneil's Gremlins in the secondary should be better with experience.

The Giants have a shot at it but those tackles must come through big or Morrall will spend most of the year on his back side.

Charley Winner, a defensive master at Baltimore, has inherited a man sized job at St. Louis. Luke Owens' retirement left a big hole in the defensive line but Pat Fischer, Larry Wilson and Jerry Stovall are rough pass defenders.

The fate of the Cardinals depends on the ability of Charley Johnson to come back after a shoulder operation and regain that TD pass touch to Sonny Randle, Bobby Joe Conrad and Billy Gambrell. Bill Triplett and Willie Crenshaw must stay healthy and rookie Johnny Roland must come through. A new system takes time to install but they should be coming on strong at the end.

Otto Graham found himself short of running backs in his new job at Washington and inherited problems on the offensive line. When John Paluck decided to quit he was later traded to Chicago, he left a gap in the defensive line.

Rector Should Help
Graham spent most of the training season shuffling personnel and scanning the waiver lists. Halfback Ron Rector, acquired from Green Bay, should help Charley Taylor and George Hughes and men like Jake Kump and Mitch Johnson should give Sonny Jurgensen a little protection.

Sonny came to camp in great shape and will be dangerous throwing to men like Bobby Mitchell and Jerry Smith. The pro debut of Charlie Gogolak, the rookie soccer-style kicker from Princeton, will be watched with great interest because of his $50,000 bonus tag.

Pittsburgh also has its problems. Bill Austin took over a cellar club with a 2-12 record and has been shifting people all during the late summer. When Austin is finished he will have a strong offensive line.

Quarterback Bill Nelsen is still on trial and he has good receivers to help him in Gary Ballman, Roy Jefferson and John Hilton. Injuries to Clarence Peaks and Theron Sapp and the departure of John Henry Johnson throw a big load on rookie Willie Ashbury and second year man Cannonball Butler.

Atlanta's defense shows promise, especially Ron Smith at cornerback and Tommy Nobis at middle linebacker. The offense is spotty. Dennis Clarke is the passer now but Randy Johnson may take over eventually.

As is to be expected, Coach Norb Hecker is making changes daily as he looks at his rookies and expansion draft veterans in actual combat. The Falcons are better than their exhibition record.

Pro Grid Roundup

Hecker Happy With Leftovers

By The Associated Press
Coach Norb Hecker of the new Atlanta Falcons was so pleased today with his leftovers, he will be back in line tonight for another plate full.

The line for seconds in this buffet will form outside the doors of the 14 old National Football League clubs, who must turn down from 49 to 43 players by midnight. Most of them are five or six over the limit and Hecker will be sniffing around for the best cuts of football beef.

His confidence bolstered by his club's first NFL victory Saturday, Hecker feels his offensive and defensive units are pretty well set.

"Of course, we're not going to turn down a chance to get a player we think can help us more than the ones we have," he said. His main need is bench strength, but he added that he will not give up future draft choices to obtain veteran back-up men.

Among those to be sifted through are players released Monday by the New York Giants and Washington Redskins of the

Giant Fighter Kayos Opponent In First Round

DETROIT (AP) — If Buster Mathis was nervous in his first pro fight before the "home" fans, he didn't wait around long enough to show it.

Mathis, the gigantic 240-pound heavyweight from Grand Rapids, caught Merl Brownfield of Pittsburgh with a right uppercut and knocked him out at 2:37 of the first round Monday night.

It was the 13th straight victory for the unbeaten Mathis, nine of them knockouts.

"I think Buster may have been a little more nervous tonight but that's good for him," said famed trainer Cus D'Amato.

"It's all part of his training. Eventually, I want him to be oblivious of any crowd and just keep his mind on the man coming out of the other corner," he added.

Attracted by the chance to see a possible future world champion in action, 5,606 fans paid $12.24 to watch the five-bout card presented by the Sportsman's Boxing Club, Inc.

The previous high in the three previous cards drawn up by matchmaker Ray Scott of the Detroit Pistons was 2,675.

Scott said afterward that Mathis would make a return engagement in November but D'Amato, best known as manager of ex-heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, was less specific.

"We're bringing Buster along slowly and we want to match him with a few more experienced boxers who will use their knowledge against him," D'Amato said.

He's been taught that whenever he gets hit, he's made a mistake. He's got it on his head now that he should never be hit," he added. "Yes, we'd like to come back to Detroit."

Mathis, at 6-foot-3½, towered over the snicker Brownfield whose few punches went wide of the mark.

"I set him up with a left and when he ducked — thinking I was going to let go with my left again — I let him have it," Mathis explained.

"He's the fastest big man I've ever seen," said Brownfield, a last-minute replacement for Lloyd Washington of Buffalo, who failed to show.

One of Brownfield's last actions before leaving Cobo Arena was to get Mathis to autograph his picture.

In supporting bouts, Michigan welterweight champion Tony Lopez of Detroit drew with Carl Jordan of Pittsburgh.

Ron Harris of Detroit scored a close decision over Rudy Richardson of Pittsburgh in a lightweight match. Welterweight Hedgemon Lewis of Detroit scored a TKO over Mike Helski of Pittsburgh in 1:29 of the first round and Alvin Blue Lewis of Detroit knocked out Vic Brown of Buffalo after 31 seconds of the first round.

Another boxing program is scheduled September 26.

HILLSDALE (AP) — Tom Zientek, starting quarterback at the University of Detroit three years ago and now a Hill-dale College student, has been named backfield coach at Hill-dale. Zientek played for Hill-dale in 1964 but was injured last season. He succeeds Max Stokes, who is in the Army.

Weird Inning Blanks Tigers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Detroit Tigers had three hits and a sacrifice in one inning Monday night, but wound up with no runs scored and runners on first and second base.

Here's how the weird fifth inning went against the Baltimore Orioles:

Bill Freehan led off with a single, but was out when Dick McAuliffe's hard grounder hit him on the foot. McAuliffe, credited with a single, then moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Denny McLain and both runners were safe when the Orioles failed on a force attempt.

Don Wert then singled to left, and Baltimore's Curt Blefary threw the ball to third baseman Brooks Robinson — apparently convinced McAuliffe would score easily.

But Detroit Manager Frank Skaff, who said later he lost sight of the ball behind umpire Al Salerno, motioned McAuliffe to hold up at third.

Robinson caught the throw-in and thinking McAuliffe was long gone, started walking back toward third base. McAuliffe, unaware of where the ball was, also ambled slowly toward third.

Suddenly, Robinson caught sight of McAuliffe and tagged him out on a desperation stab. Dick Tracewski then lined out to end the inning.

"That's the first time in my life I ever lost sight of the ball like that," said Skaff, who was coaching at third. "The next thing I knew, the ball was in Robinson's hands."

Bowling Notes

The Continental Thursday Night bowling league will meet at the Continental Lanes Thursday, Sept. 1, at 7:30 p.m. Team captains and any new team interested are asked to attend.

Catcher Bruce Smith of Louisville will captain Dartmouth's 1967 baseball team.

Kaline Says Race Not Yet Finished

By The Associated Press
Al Kaline says it isn't over yet and you couldn't prove any different by Willie Horton.
Kaline took exception recently to the suggestion that Baltimore, ahead of the rest of the league for some time, had the American League pennant wrapped up.
Basically, Kaline's thought was that if the Tigers could get a jump on the Birds in their current series, anything could happen.
And Monday, Horton responded to Kaline's call. He clubbed a pair of homers and a single that drove in five runs, giving Detroit a 6-3 victory.
Baltimore's lead is still 11-1.

games, though, and looks as insurmountable as ever. The Orioles have lost seven of their last 10 games, but have had just two games taken off their league lead.
Horton, who now has 21 homers, hit his first of the evening, a solo job, in the second inning, then came back in the sixth with a three-run drive. Both came off loser Dave McNally who has yielded five homers to Willie this season. Bill Freehan also hit one for Detroit.
Frank Robinson raised his league-leading homer mark to 41 and pulled into a tie with teammate Boog Powell for the RBI lead at 26.
Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago shut out Cleveland 2-0, New York beat Kansas City 7-2, Minnesota dumped Washington 6-1 and Boston took California 4-3.
In the National League, New York downed Los Angeles 5-3, Philadelphia beat San Francisco 5-1, Houston blanked Pittsburgh 2-0, Cincinnati stopped St. Louis 2-0 and Chicago took Atlanta 4-2 in 14 innings.
Denny McLain picked up his 16th victory for the Tigers and he did it the hard way. In all, he threw 229 pitches, walked nine, struck out 11 and had to contend with baserunners in every inning.
Tommy John threw a five-hitter at Cleveland and Tommie Agee drove in both of Chicago's runs with a homer in the sixth inning. It was John's fifth shut-out of the season and made his record 13-5.
Dooley Womack and Steve Hamilton gave the Yankees 6 1-3 innings of spotless relief pitching and they erupted for six runs in the last two innings. Lou Clinton hit a two-run homer. Hamilton retired the Athletics in order in the last two innings. Bernie Allen celebrated his first appearance in the Minnesota starting line-up in two weeks by hitting a three-run homer that broke a tie in the fourth inning. Jim Perry set the Senators down on five hits.

Jose Tartabull's pinch-hit single in the ninth snatched victory away from California after the Angels had moved ahead in the seventh on Bobby Knoop's 18th homer. George Scott hit his 25th homer. Jose Santiago went the first eight innings for the Sox and gave up just four hits.

Maris Ready To Quit Game?

KANSAS CITY (AP)—New York Yankee outfielder Roger Maris confirmed a report Monday night that he is considering giving up baseball after this season.
"But," he added, "I'm only considering it. I haven't said either way to anyone yet."
Milton Gross, a columnist for the New York Post, reported that "Maris is disappointed, disillusioned and almost in despair."
Maris, interviewed by Sid Borman of the Kansas City Star before Monday night's New York-Kansas City game, called that "a little strong."
The 31-year-old athlete has been bothered by a sequence of injuries over the last two seasons.
Maris, who with his wife, Pat, and their six children, live in nearby Independence, Mo., has played in 101 games this season. He is hitting .233 with 10 homers and 37 runs batted in.

Tommy John threw a five-hitter at Cleveland and Tommie Agee drove in both of Chicago's runs with a homer in the sixth inning. It was John's fifth shut-out of the season and made his record 13-5.
Dooley Womack and Steve Hamilton gave the Yankees 6 1-3 innings of spotless relief pitching and they erupted for six runs in the last two innings. Lou Clinton hit a two-run homer. Hamilton retired the Athletics

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Bill Casper is back on pork and lamb with only an occasional slab of buffalo meat, and those who would like to beat him for hard cash on a golf course can derive little comfort from that.
"When I was 30, I felt like 40, and now I'm 35 and feel like 25," the Coronado, Calif., professional, U.S. Open and American Western champion said today.
Casper led a strong American contingent into Royal Birkdale's 7,037-yard par-73 links for a four-day, 72-hole medal play assault on the third annual Carling World Golf Championship.
First prize of $35,000 is only part of the $200,000 bag of money to be doled out Saturday.
Casper returned to Birkdale with enthusiasm.
"I played well during the Ryder Cup here last year except for the last round when I got the flu and shouldn't have been playing at all," he commented.
It was then that he told how allergic he was to certain foods and had to rely on wild game, including buffalo and deer meat.
"My diet has now shifted and now I can eat pork and lamb, eggs, citrus fruit, peas and beans," he said.
Nevertheless, some buffalo meat will be flown in for him via London, he said.
Casper is a 4 to 1 favorite but insists in such a big field of 165 professionals from America, Europe, Asia and Africa, "no man should be better than 20 to 1."
After Casper, the field may be chasing Doug Sanders, Oia, Calif.; Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif.; and Peter Thomson of Australia, who won his fifth British Open crown at Birkdale in 1955.

Three Leaders Fall, Nothing Is Changed In National League

By The Associated Press
Jim Bunning played Jack and the Beanstalk against the Giants again. Mike Cuellar turned in a first against the Pirates, and B.B. Shaw got a one-day jump on the Dodgers.
So, nothing's changed as far as the top three teams in the National League are concerned.
Bunning killed the Giants for the 10th time in 12 decisions against them as Philadelphia beat San Francisco 5-1 Monday night.
Cuellar notched his first major league shutout, blanking the heavy-hitting Pirates 2-0 at Pittsburgh.
Shaw, who had lost twice to Los Angeles this season, both times to Sandy Koufax, turned the tables on the Dodgers by pitching the New York Mets to a 5-3 victory. Koufax is scheduled to pitch tonight against the Mets.
San Francisco and Pittsburgh remained in a first-place tie, with Los Angeles a game back.
In other NL action Monday night, Cincinnati downed St. Louis 2-0 and the Chicago Cubs outlasted Atlanta 4-2 in 14 innings.
In the American League, Detroit took Baltimore 6-3, the New York Yankees whipped Kansas City 7-2, Minnesota trounced Washington 6-1, the Chicago White Sox edged Cleveland 2-0 and Boston nipped California 4-3.
Giants' Manager Herman Franks had little trouble in explaining Bunning's mastery over his club.
"Because he's a good pitcher, that's why," Franks fumed. "Why the hell do you think?"
Bunning allowed two hits in the first inning, one of them Willie Mays' run-scoring double and then didn't allow another until the ninth when the Giants got two harmless singles.

The Phillies gave Bunning all the help he needed by scoring four runs in the third—two of them on Johnny Callison's double.
Cuellar struck out 11 and allowed just five hits in outdueling Pirate southpaw ace Bob Veale for Houston's sixth straight victory.
Houston rookie Ron Davis said many inside pitches he thought were balls were being called strikes so "I thought I'd better start swinging at them."
He did with two out in the fifth and tripled home Dave Nicholson, who had walked, and Bob Lillis, who had reached base on an error.
Shaw was staked to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings—two in the first on Jim Hickman's error and two in the second as a result of third baseman Nate Oliver's throwing error.
The Dodgers scored once in the fourth and added a pair on Lou Johnson's homer in the seventh. The Mets, breaking a five-game losing streak, added an insurance run in the seventh.
Deron Johnson hit two homers and veteran Joe Nuxhall pitched a three-hitter in Cincinnati's victory over St. Louis. It was the Reds' sixth straight triumph.
The Cubs scored two runs in the 14th on George Altman's pinch-hit single. The Braves had tied the game 2-2 in the ninth when Rico Carty's sacrifice fly scored pinch runner Wes Bales.

Casper Is Back On Lamb, Pork

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Bill Casper is back on pork and lamb with only an occasional slab of buffalo meat, and those who would like to beat him for hard cash on a golf course can derive little comfort from that.
"When I was 30, I felt like 40, and now I'm 35 and feel like 25," the Coronado, Calif., professional, U.S. Open and American Western champion said today.
Casper led a strong American contingent into Royal Birkdale's 7,037-yard par-73 links for a four-day, 72-hole medal play assault on the third annual Carling World Golf Championship.
First prize of $35,000 is only part of the $200,000 bag of money to be doled out Saturday.
Casper returned to Birkdale with enthusiasm.
"I played well during the Ryder Cup here last year except for the last round when I got the flu and shouldn't have been playing at all," he commented.
It was then that he told how allergic he was to certain foods and had to rely on wild game, including buffalo and deer meat.
"My diet has now shifted and now I can eat pork and lamb, eggs, citrus fruit, peas and beans," he said.
Nevertheless, some buffalo meat will be flown in for him via London, he said.
Casper is a 4 to 1 favorite but insists in such a big field of 165 professionals from America, Europe, Asia and Africa, "no man should be better than 20 to 1."
After Casper, the field may be chasing Doug Sanders, Oia, Calif.; Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif.; and Peter Thomson of Australia, who won his fifth British Open crown at Birkdale in 1955.

Aussie Veterans Keep Doubles Championship

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Davis Cup veterans Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle headed for the U. S. Singles Tennis Tournament determined to upset the seedings today after returning the National Doubles Championship to Australia for the 11th time in 21 years.
Emerson, 29, and Stolle, 27, retained the U. S. doubles crown and jolted America's Davis Cup hopes by overwhelming Dennis Ralston, the nation's top-ranked player, and Clark Graebner 6-4, 6-4 at Longwood.
Emerson had little complaint about his No. 2 ranking behind Wimbledon champion Manuel Santana of Spain for the National Singles opening Thursday at Forest Hills, N.Y.
Stolle, however, was peeved that he was not seeded in the singles — although he smiled and tried to act nonchalant about the matter.
"After talking with some of the American players, it seems that the seeding committee should be in a Noah's Ark or something," Stolle said. "This is the first time I haven't been seeded in five years."

Ralston and Graebner were at a physical and mental disadvantage as they were required to play nearly 45 minutes at midday to complete a 6-3, 3-6, 6-8, 15-13, 11-9 victory over Aussie Tony Roche and John Newcombe. The semifinal had been called with the score 2-2 in the fifth set because of darkness Sunday night.
"It probably was unfortunate we had to play again after the semifinal," the 24-year-old Ralston said. "We were all keyed up for continuation of the first match. However, we were fortunate to get into the finals as we could have lost the other match just as easily."
Top-seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil and Nancy Richey of Farmers Branch, who had won the U. S. women's title with different partners in the past, scored again as they defeated Billie Jean Moffitt King, the Wimbledon champion from Long Beach, Calif., and Rosemary Casals, 17, of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-4.
